ACCUSES KOREAN CIA

Daly City publisher Song Sun Keun was forced to close because of pressure by South Korean CIA agents.

By FRANK LAPIERRE
The Korean Central Intelligence Agency (KCIA) is actively engaged in acts of terrorism and extortion against Korean nationals on the Peninsula, the publishers of a Korean language newspaper charged this week.

Because of his disclosures on the operations of the KCIA in San Francisco and San Mateo counties, coupled with his criticism of Park Chung Hee, the South Korean president, Song Sun-Keun, 38, says his life has been threatened. The last death threat Song received was several weeks ago when the writer of an anonymous letter informed the publisher "it is merely a matter of time because you are dead."

The threats against Song come in the wake of reports out of Washington, D.C. concerning the alleged bribery of congressmen and other officials by South Korean businessman Tong-sun Park.

Song, who lives in Daly City with his wife and two small children, received his first death threat in August 1974 when a telephone caller told him, "You will be killed Sunday."

At that time the caller, who identified himself as "Kim Chi Soo," said Song was a Communist because of his editorials in the Korea Journal newspaper attacking President Park's policies.

"Actually I am against dictators whether they are from North or South Korea," Song told The Times. "I and other Koreans living here cannot just stand idly by and watch (President) Park's repression without protest," Song said.

For two years, Song published his tabloid sized paper and mailed it to some 3,000 readers in the Bay Area.

There are now an estimated 200,000 persons of Korean ancestry living in the United States. Of this number, the largest concentration is on the Peninsula — some 25,000 — it is believed.

Today, Song's paper is no longer published every two weeks.

The reason, according to Song, is the cancellation of advertisements brought about by the KCIA operatives in San Francisco.

Song said Korean Consul Man Sung Limb, assigned to the San Francisco office, is in charge of the KCIA in the area.

A spokesman for the Korean Consul-General's office in San Francisco promptly denied that Limb was a KCIA agent.

"Mr. Limb is listed on the diplomatic list as a consul... not an agent (of the KCIA)," K. J. Choi, Cultural and Information Consul said.

"Please believe he is a consul — not an agent," Choi reiterated.

Nor does the Korean government here know of any acts of terrorism or extortion against Koreans residing in the Bay Area, or the United States, Choi said.

There have been no reports of beatings. No complaints of strongarm tactics. And no knowledge of extortion attempts on its citizens, Choi, who has been in San Francisco four months, explained.

Song, who has been accused of publishing "irresponsible statements" in his newspaper, disagrees.

One person who has been listening to complaints of terrorism from his constituents is Congressman Leo J. Ryan (D-11th District).

In a letter to Congressman Don Fraser, on Nov. 2, 1976, Ryan urged his fellow representative to start investigations into the allegations of KCIA harassment of citizens here.

"It is utterly inconceivable to me that a foreign nation can send agents to the United States to terrorize citizens and non-citizens of the country without Congress investigating the reports and taking appropriate action," Ryan said.

Ryan asked for an immediate formal investigation of the allegations lodged by Song and others.

"My concern has grown into alarm at recent reports of KCIA intrusions into the lives of Americans," Ryan said.

Choi scoffed at the concern of Ryan and allegations of Song. "We (the Korean government in the United States) are not strong enough to guide people's thinking," Choi said.

No one listens to the Korean Consul General's Office, Choi said. The Korean citizens living here are protected by U.S. laws, not Korean government edicts, Choi explained.

Song, and others who asked not to be identified for fear of reprisal, claim those engaged in the acts of terrorism simply point out that they still have family and friends living in Korea.

"They (the messengers) don't have to say any more. This simple statement is enough to convince the person being told that they

Cable TV May Not Get Unplugged

A public hearing on Daly City's controversial cable television system was continued for another week following some four hours of debate on the issue Monday.

Shortly after midnight, the council announced it would postpone additional public input on the hearing until 9 p.m. Nov. 29.

Most of the evening was taken up with current conditions of the system, owned and operated by Vista Grande Cable Television Company.

In recent years, the cable company has been the recipient of numerous complaints concerning poor reception and service.

But Monday, several cable television subscribers, some who had been stern critics of the system, told the city that conditions had improved and they asked that the company's franchise not be terminated.

Only Richard Silver, a resident of Daly City and an aide to Assemblyman Louis J. Papan, asked that the company's franchise be cancelled because the company had not lived up to the terms of the franchise.

Consultants selected by the city (and paid for by the cable company) told the council new equipment being installed has improved the system.

However, it will be 3-4 months before definite data on the new equipment will be available, a spokesman for the consultants said.

City Attorney Albert Polonsky consumed much time with the introduction of evidence for and against the company.

Attorney Thomas Renk, representing the cable company, was allowed to question evidence and persons appearing before the council during the hearing.

Since Sept. 20, when the council cracked down hard on the cable company, with vows to cancel the franchise unless quick action was taken to correct an assortment of alleged wrongs, new personnel have been hired and equipment installed.

Seven new customer service representatives have been hired by the company, and some 43 miles of the old cable system has been replaced with new equipment, it was learned.

Meanwhile, in other action, the council authorized the expenditure of $10,000 to be spent for studies on a garbage transfer station to be jointly used by Pacifica and Daly City once Mussel Rock Dump is closed.

The State Water Quality Control Board has demanded the dump be closed as soon as possible.

The transfer station costs will be shared equally by each city.

December 20, 1976 has been set for a public hearing on application for appropriations of federal revenue sharing funds.

DC Pushes for Annex Renewal

The city of Daly City is demanding that the San Mateo County Local Agency Formation Commission "continue the proceedings on the proposal to annex to Daly City 130 acres of the unincorporated area of Colma east of Junipero Serra Freeway."

In a letter to the commission, City Attorney Albert E. Polonsky contends that the commission failed to comply with provisions of the Government Code earlier this month when it deadlocked 2 to 2 on motions both to approve and deny the application of Daly City.

The commission will consider Polonsky's letter at its Dec. 15 meeting at 2 p.m. in the Hall of Justice, Redwood City.

The 2 to 2 vote resulted after Commission Chairwoman Jean Fessler disqualified herself on participating because she had missed the first hearing on the annexation proposal.

In his letter, Polonsky states, "It is our opinion that the commission must make a final determination, by resolution by a majority vote of the commission," because the Government Code states that, "within 35 days after the conclusion of the hearing the commission shall adopt a resolution making its determination upon the proposal" — either approval or disapproval.

Although the annexation was not approved because of the tie vote, Polonsky contends that, "It is our opinion that the commission has failed in its duties as there has been no resolution disapproving the proposal and that further proceedings must be initiated inasmuch as (the Government Code) specifically refers to the fact that further proceeding will be terminated only if there is a resolution of disapproval."

Thousands Watch as Man Falls

Some 5,000 stunned spectators watched a high-wire walker for the Page Cavanaugh Circus fall 40 feet onto the floor at the Cow Palace Sunday afternoon.

Tony Reed, 26, is being treated at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City. Hospital aides listed his condition as stable. They said he is suffering from broken legs and arms.

After the fall, several members of the audience, including a nurse, rushed onto the floor to administer first aid until an ambulance arrived.

It was reported that a member of the San Francisco Police Athletic League, which has sponsored the circus' appearance for the past 16 years, said that a "hush" fell over the crowd as Reed teetered on the wire and then fell into the ring below.

Former SSF Chief Succumbs

Alexander Welte, 79, South San Francisco fire chief for 32 years, died Sunday at Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame.

Welte, a native South San Franciscan, was fire chief from 1930 to 1962.

He also was a member of the International Association of Fire Chiefs and was past president of the Peninsula Association of that organization.

He served as a state deputy fire marshal, and was active in the county defense program.

He was the first exalted Ruler of Elks Lodge 2091 in his hometown.

Welte also was a member of the USO and many other community projects.

He is survived by his widow, Jean Welte of South San Francisco; a daughter, Evelyn McMills of Menlo Park; three brothers, Walter Welte of Menlo Park. See SSF CHIEF Page 2

Mount Lawyers Ask Trial Move

Attorneys for the developers of San Bruno Mountain are seeking to have their lawsuit against the County of San Mateo and County supervisors transferred to another county because a judge allowed the Save San Bruno Mountain Committee to intervene in the proceedings, it was reported Monday.

Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson said that the change of venue request by Visitation Associates is scheduled for a hearing Dec. 7.

The venue request has bumped a scheduled hearing for Tuesday on the county's legal action seeking to dismiss the lawsuit.

Visitation is seeking to have the County Board of Supervisor's rejection of their plans for development in the "saddle" area of San Bruno Mountain overturned by a court.

Sorenson said that Visitation's documents filed with the court asking for a venue change asserted that a local judge allowed the San Bruno Mountain committee to intervene with the county to help defend the suit and that the committee is a "powerful lobbyist in the county" so the judges couldn't be impartial.

The matter will be heard by Presiding Superior Court Judge Robert E. Miller.

Truck Rolls on Mt. And Driver Killed

The challenge of climbing a San Bruno Mountain hillside in a new four-wheel drive truck led Robert Keb, 34, of San Francisco to his death Saturday evening.

A Brisbane Fire Department spokesman said Keb and two passengers, John Woo, 29, of San Francisco, and Rick Samer, 26, of South San Francisco, were attempting to get their truck up an old fire road that even the fire department doesn't use anymore.

According to the California Highway Patrol, the threesome was traveling north on a fire road that crisscrosses San Bruno Mountain in Brisbane.

At about 5:05 p.m., Keb and his passengers tried to tackle a hill that was just too steep and the truck toppled off the mountain, rolling several times and falling into a clump of trees just next to Old Bayshore Boulevard, the CHP reported.

Keb was thrown through the windshield and his body was found about 100 feet from where the vehicle landed. He was pronounced dead at the scene by a coroner's department investigator.

His two companions, who reportedly suffered minor lacerations and abrasions, were standing beside the vehicle when the fire department and CHP officers arrived.

The CHP officers blocked one lane of southbound traffic on Bayshore Boulevard while they searched for Keb's body and cleared the destroyed truck from the side of the road.

Keb reportedly had owned the truck only nine days.

Councilman Resigns; Pacifica 'Stunned'

By JANET PARKER

Pacifica Councilman Stan Farber stunned city officials Monday night when he submitted his resignation effective Dec. 1.

The action came in the midst of council conflict over growth and no-growth philosophies.

His brief but blunt letter of resignation was read by Mayor Janice Fulford as the City Council began its meeting.

Farber did not attend the meeting and there was no hint in recent weeks that his resignation was imminent.

He has been a councilman since 1970.

"I have always tried to do my job with honesty and dignity and not to let my personal feelings interfere with what is best for the city based on the facts presented to me," Farber said in his letter. "I hope I have done this."

"The current climate and feelings of this City Council is something I do not choose to be part of."

"Today may be Pacifica's birthday but if we follow the path we are going

Stan Farber

Pacifica may not have too many more," Farber wrote.

Coincidentally, the council was celebrating the 19th anniversary of the city's incorporation that evening by honoring volunteers and serving cake and coffee.

Contacted at his home during the meeting, Farber said he had nothing to add to his letter of resignation.

"The letter says it all," Farber said. He would not say how long he has been considering resignation or precisely why he chose to resign at this time.

However, a stormy session of the City Council last week in which Farber and Councilmen Nick Gust favored the construction of 97-unit apartment complex apparently influenced Farber's decision.

The council's 3-2 vote rejecting the development which had been five years in the planning led to bitter outcries and plans for a recall of the council majority — Mrs. Fulford, Sidney Lorvan and Mark Savage.

A former mayor, Aubrey Lumley, was so angered by the council's anti-construction decision that he ripped his picture from the council chamber wall and threw it in the direction of the council's podium.

Portolas 'Railroaded': Gust Rezoning Hurdle Cleared

The approval of a negative declaration paving the way to rezone a controversial piece of land in Pacifica was called a major work of railroad by an angry Councilman Nick Gust Monday night.

The 3-1 council vote, with Gust dissenting, may set the stage for a legal battle between the city of Pacifica and a would-be developer.

The disgruntled representatives of "The Portolas" — a proposed 97-unit apartment complex — left the meeting discussing the possibility of suing the City Council because of the way the negative declaration was presented and approved.

"This is one of the greatest railroad jobs I've ever seen in my life," said Gust after the vote.

The council's attempt to rezone the property between Roberts Road and Highway 1 from planned development to commercial-recreation came as a blow last week to a group that's been trying to develop the land for three years.

Ron Tate of San Jose currently has an option to buy the property — providing he can obtain city and Coastal Commission approval of the apartment complex proposal.

The Coastal Commission rejected the plan in 1973, saying that — among other things — the project was "too dense."

Tate, through architect Stanley Panko, of San Mateo reduced the design from 137 to the present 97 units and prepared reports to satisfy the concerns of the regional agency.

The building plans were finally approved by the city Planning Commission in October but a resident, Ruth Paige, appealed to the City Council. She said that a new environmental impact report should have been required since the 1972 report was outdated.

The city attorney had said a new EIR was not necessary.

However, the council voted 3-2 last week to uphold the appeal and thereby deny the apartment complex.

Savage asked that the planning staff prepare reports to rezone the property as soon as possible. The rezoning would prohibit any private development now or in the future.

However, on Jan. 1, the land will fall out of the jurisdiction of the Coastal Commission and it will be possible for the developer to simply obtain a building permit from the city under the old 137-unit plan.

If the council can rezone the property before that date, any possibility that Tate's project can become reality will be averted.

City Planner Mac Carpenter Monday presented a negative declaration to initiate the rezoning process.

The council's certification of the document means that an EIR for the rezoning is not necessary and a rezoning hearing can be held Dec. 13.

Attorney John Norman — representing Tate — vehemently protested the negative declaration.

He said neither he nor Tate received notice from the city of the negative declaration hearing and he did not see a copy of the document until he arrived at the meeting.

"Mr. Tate is obviously vitally interested in what is happening to this project," Norman said. "We have had no opportunity to prepare or research this."

He also said that the Coastal Commission has not been asked to comment on the negative declaration as required under the California Environmental Quality Act.

Norman said the council's effort to push through the rezoning as fast as possible "basically tells us our only course of action is litigation."

Tate, he said, has already spent at least $40,000 trying to get the apartment project through city channels. He obviously has a great interest in the property, the attorney said.

Councilman Savage was most adamant that the developer should have been aware of the negative declaration hearing. He said it was quite clear last week that the negative declaration would be discussed at the Monday night meeting. Norman said it was definitely not clear.

"I'm sorry you were operating on that incorrect premise," Savage said.

He said that the council's interest in development has changed over the last four years since "The Portolas" was originated.

"It's something the minority of this city will have to live with," Savage said.

A planning commissioner, Ellie McGuire, questioned why the item was not on the council's printed agenda.

"It was obvious it was added at the last minute," she said. Normally, she said, it takes a city at least 45 days to get a negative declaration prepared. This, she said, was prepared in one week.

Both Councilman Lorvan and Mayor Fulford said the council is facing a deadline of its own. Mrs. Fulford said the developer is obviously aware of the council's concern to get the rezoning underway soon.

Norman asked that the council postpone a decision on the negative declaration until Dec. 13 to allow him to prepare an adequate report protesting the document.

Councilman Nick Gust's motion to do so was seconded by Lorvan, who later rescinded his second and let the motion die.

Instead, Savage moved to accept the document, saying that if fulfilled all municipal code requirements.

Representatives for the developer have said they will submit an application for a building permit — which does not require council approval — on Jan. 3. However, if the rezoning date, such action by the developer would be impossible.

Blind Landing At Airport

The very first completely "hands-off" landing of a major airliner at San Francisco International Airport was accomplished last Thursday afternoon by a TWA jumbojet from New York.

Company officials said The Lockheed L-1011 — the only plane certified for completely automatic landings — was on a regularly scheduled passenger carrying flight from John F. Kennedy airfield.

San Francisco International is one of only three airports in the nation that are equipped with the electronic devices that make such landings possible, when coupled with suitably equipped planes.

The only other airports so equipped are Dulles at Washington, and Atlanta International at Atlanta.

Federal Aviation Administration control tower operators here said the landing was made during "extremely weird weather conditions" in which the airport's longest runway was "socked in" by haze and fog while other portions of the field were clear.

The landing was made just after 2 p.m., although Flight 41 is scheduled to land at 1:38.

The delay was caused by the "socked in" condition of Runway 28-Right, which caused several other pilots to make "missed approaches" instead of landing.

TWA said the 250-seat plane was carrying 76 passengers, but did not report whether the customers were advised that the landing would be completely automatic.

Cities to Join Drive for Property Tax Reform

By RICK SULLIVAN
The state legislature must tackle a major property tax reform measure this session if municipalities are to continue providing city services that citizens demand of them, according to San Bruno City Manager Gerald Minford.

Addressing members of the Chamber of Commerce late this week, Minford warned that cities will join tax-burdened homeowners in sponsoring statewide property tax initiatives if the legislature fails to take action this fiscal year.

Minford reported that at a recent League of California Cities convention, members vowed in a resolution to launch an initiative petition if the legislature does not enact a property tax reform measure.

"This is the year that the state has to deal with property taxes. It refused to do it last year; it has to be dealt with this year," Minford said.

The city manager reported that the "short term financial picture for the city is pretty good," but he added that the long term picture "is a whole different story."

Minford said the city is comfortable with what is happening inside the city but that it is becoming increasingly difficult to handle the external problems.

He said state and federal programs are creating financial havoc in cities and asserted that control over local affairs is slipping from the grasp of city councils and into the hands of officials at higher levels of government.

State regulations on the upgrading of sewer plants, he said, have resulted in the expenditures of "huge" sums of money.

Positive Reaction to Nov. 18 'Smokeout'

By LIN DAY
The Great American Smokeout succeeded in getting 30 per cent of the county's smokers to try stopping for a day Thursday, but it didn't change the Bay Area Pollution tables.

The local office of the American Cancer Society reported that a sampling of twenty households found that 15 of 20 had heard of it, that 10 had smokers — 17 smokers in all, and that six were trying to quit smoking for the day. This was about the same as the random state telephone survey of 183 households, which found 30.4 per cent of smokers trying to kick the habit — 31 of 102 smokers trying to go along with the anti-smoking drive.

Counties in the survey, in addition to San Mateo, were San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, Santa Clara, Sacramento and Orange Counties.

The Society's spokesman in San Mateo County, Natalie Lanam, said she was very pleased with the results of the drive and that they will try it again next year.

"Everybody I met knew about it, and there was great enthusiasm — from the 49ers to the schoolchildren who went home to have a serious talk with their parents," Lanam said. "People who were not stopping were at least thinking about it," she continued. "It was a very positive reaction."

At hospitals, she said, nurses wore "I quit smoking" buttons.

Asks $100,000 for False Arrest

A Union City man has filed a $100,000 claim with the city of South San Francisco alleging damages for false arrest and imprisonment by the police department.

Richard E. Baumgarte was arrested on Aug. 3 and charged with robbery, kidnap, grand theft and burglary in connection with an incident at Wildberg Bros. refinery on July 23.

More than $250,000 worth of gold and silver crystals were stolen in the heist — the third robbery at the refinery in a decade.

The council denied Baumgarte's claim Wednesday night. Filing a claim with the city is a required preliminary action before filing one in court.

Baumgarte claims he suffered "verbal abuse and harassment" by South San Francisco detectives Douglas McCool and Charles Zetterholmes during the arrest and that Det. McCool threatened to kill him on Aug. 8.

He further alleges that he was sexually assaulted by an inmate while he was falsely imprisoned in the San Mateo County Jail.

Baumgarte also claims he was fired from his job in Oakland as a result of his arrest and that he now is unemployed.

"My false arrest and false imprisonment have caused me untold emotional distress, nervousness, embarrassment and public scorn and ridicule," Baumgarte stated in his claim.

THE KING'S ENGLISH

It may not look like it, but these are Shakespearean actors — Westmoor High School style. They are rehearsing a scene from "Twelfth Night," a comedy that will be presented at 8 p.m. Dec. 3, 4, 10 and 11 in the school's Little Theater. From left, the thespians are Steve Powers, Michael Eckhardt, Cheryl Fluehr, Nathan Johnson and F.J. Pratt.

Brisbane Honors Sister's Teachers

The City of Brisbane will throw out all the stops Thanksgiving Day to honor a group of teachers from Brisbane, Queensland, Australia — you guessed it, Brisbane's Sister City.

The 21 student teachers, who arrived at San Francisco International Airport Saturday, are student teaching in San Francisco schools under the direction of Dr. Ethel Ruymaker, an education professor at San Francisco State University. They will be in this area two months.

Thursday the teachers will be the special guests of their American sibling at a dinner to be held at the Brisbane Inn. The dinner will be at 5 p.m., with a civic reception at 7 p.m.

The city and the Chamber of Commerce are underwriting the cost of the dinner. In the guests' honor, Brisbane will be flying the Australian flag that day.

At the dinner, the Brisbane-ites presumably will be discussing their similarities — and differences. Among them, their size.

The other Brisbane apparently is the big sister in this family: It has 300,000 residents, while the local Brisbane boasts only 3,000.

Serramonte

Serramonte High School's principal J. Wayne Kurlak, has accepted a position as principal of a new high school near Sacramento.

Vice Principal Dion DuBois has been appointed as acting principal of Serramonte. A permanent principal will be appointed in about two months.

The students and faculty of Serramonte wish Kurlak and DuBois good luck in their new positions.

SERRAMONTE HIGH SCHOOL was represented at the 19th Annual High School Mathematics Contest held at the University of Santa Clara Nov. 13.

The contest, which attracts students interested in mathematics from schools throughout the Bay Area, is designed to uncover ingenious problem-solving techniques rather than measure formal mathematical knowledge.

Participating Serramonte students were James Theis, Jean Unsworth, Susan Aronovsky, Ken Fineman, Eric Herzog, David Young, Steve Gersh, Gary Yu, Chris Yamamoto, Ronald Chang, Edwin Lai, Sarah Lai and Curtis Dennison. The students were accompanied to the contest by Serramonte math teachers Rod Crittenden and Dave Lew.

Serramonte's Woodshop Club is very busy this year. The purpose of the club is to provide extracurricular activities to students who want to expand their interests outside of the general woodworking program.

DURING SERRAMONTE'S "Back to School Night" Nov. 17, the Woodshop Club had a demonstration of what woodworking machines can do and how they are used for making things for public use. They had 30 machines in full operation and many completed projects for viewing.

Also, this year the club has been selling firewood as well as mass-producing book stands for the school business department. They work on the stands every Thursday after school at the club meeting. The Woodshop Club members are deciding what they will mass produce this year for sale to the public.

The Woodshop Club officers are Ron Spinetti, President; Mike Meschi, Vice President; Nina Rovai, Secretary; and Pete Martin, Treasurer.

The other members are Gary Borghello, Joe Cape, Jim Coates, Mike Cuellar, Ed Gadyan, Juan Gadyan, Farzad Tabrizi, Jim Unsworth, Payton Wong and Clarence Worthier.

The Woodshop Club is under the professional guidance of Industrial Arts teacher, Steve Shepler.

It has purchased tee shirts with its initials on it. So if you see anyone walking around with the initials "WSC" on their shirt, you will know that they belong to Serramonte's Woodshop Club.

THE ART CLUB is another of Serramonte's extracurricular activities. In the Art Club, students set up the art show in the spring, assist the art department, go on field trips, and work on individual projects.

At the present time, many Art Club members are working on painting and silk screening tee shirts.

The club members are Mylene Biete, Adalberto Canas, Kathy Galli, Marco Garcia, W. Garcia, Susan Hall, Marcie Lurie, Christopher Mabalot, Jaime Moran, Charlene Padilla, Henry Rendon Arnette Terry, Antonio Toro, Ann Marie Villias, Robert Weber and Yvonne Youngblood. The advisor is art teacher Mary Heeb.

Serramonte's fall play, "The Crucible" by Arthur Miller, was a success! The actors and actresses did an outstanding job as did the stage and technical crews.

Congratulations to all who were involved, and a great big "thank you" from the drama department to all those who attended.

High Schoolers Take on the Bard 'Twelfth Night' Runs 4 Days

Rehearsals, set construction, costume designs and fittings, the rigging of lights, and the sounds of "Magic" all indicate the preparation Dec. Westmoor High School's Drama Department of their production of William Shakespeare's comedy "Twelfth Night," or "What You Will."

Student actors — long used to vapid, slangy, contemporary speech — are relishing the poetic, rich speech of Shakespeare's sparkling dialogue and the rollicking situations, but rather the number mood, of the world of Sir Toby Belch, Aguecheek, foolish Sir a.m., Aguecheek, according to director Kenneth Brown.

These two, along with Maria, Fabiana, and the Clown Feste set about the downfall of the steward Malvolio and his puritanical pomposity.

These events become the background against which the romantic comedy of the principal characters takes place.

The lovely Viola, disguised as a boy, becomes servant to the Duke Orsino who sends Viola to woo the beautiful Countess Olivia. She, believing Viola to be a boy, falls desperately in love may not the Duke's servant, Viola, in her turn, falls in love with her "Twelfth the Duke. And so this triangled love plot goes, with complications, mistaken identity, and delightful foolishness.

So from the earthy comedy of Sir Toby and Company to the lovelorn, picture-book work of Olivia and Orsino, to the realistic sense of values shown by Viola and the Clown Feste, here is a play which spans the range of human elements.

Performance dates are Dec. 3, 4, 10 and 11 in Westmoor High School's Little Theatre, 131 Westmoor Ave., Daly City. Curtain is at 8 p.m. and tickets are $1.50 and $1. for students with a student body car at the door.

Pacifica Recall Bid Reported

A Pacifica woman has said she will confer with her attorney today to begin recall proceedings against three Pacifica council members.

Vi Gotelli said a split 3-2 decision by the council over a proposed apartment complex was the last straw.

"We can not go on letting them crucify this city," Mrs. Gotelli said.

The majority of the council, she said, is preventing Pacifica from growing in ways that will put the city on sound financial ground.

Mrs. Gotelli — who is also statewide president of Active Women Advancing a Responsible Environment (AWARE) — said she will initiate recall proceedings against Mayor Janice Fulford and Councilmen Sidney Loran and Mark Savage.

All three had just voted to reject a 97-unit apartment project called "The Portolas."

The main issue of her recall intention, she said, is that the three council members have failed to consider the needs of citizens but rather have acted in their own interests.

Early Turkey-day Dinner Marks Anniversary

Louanne Heath

The holiday spirit seems to have suddenly engulfed everyone! One minute we were preparing for "Trick or Treaters" at our door and the next we were ordering Thanksgiving turkeys and watching maintenance people erect artificial trees atop shopping center roofs.

Among those taking time to enjoy Thanksgiving, and all that it signifies in this bi-centennial year, are the members of the Daly City Senior Citizens Club.

The early Thanksgiving dinner enjoyed by the club members turned into a two-fold celebration when it came time for the dessert course. According to Mrs. Louise Buttle, club secretary, the guests had just finished the main course when four strangers entered the room carrying flowers and an elegant anniversary cake. The surprise was for Mr. and Mrs. Don Pieri who observed the 63rd anniversary of their wedding on Nov. 16.

The Pieris' daughter, Mrs. Mary Russi, and her family had conspired with the executive board to share the joy of the occasion with club members.

More than 160 persons rose to applaud Don and Vera and then all joined in enjoyment of the anniversary cake. The Russi family had come across the bay from Concord to see the Pieris' reaction to the king-size party.

Satisfied by turkey and anniversary cake, the guests sat back and laughed heartily at the comedy production staged by Anita astagnaro, Millie Sims, Erna Kohluf and Stella Lee.

The quartet took a few liberties with historical fact and staged a playlet based on the story of John Alden and Pricilla that produced some nearly hysterical laughter. John was portrayed by Mrs. Stagnaro with a flourish but it is somewhat doubtful that any of the characters bore even a slight resemblance to the originals. Mrs. Sims created a delightful Pricilla, Mrs. Kohluf as the preacher and Mrs. Lee as the Indian added immensity to the fun!

ON DEC. 2, the Friends of the Library will attempt to make your holiday shopping a little easier by presenting Michael Bossier of the Little Professor Book Store.

Mrs. Virginia Tierney reports that the regular Friends of the Library meeting will be held at 10 a.m. in the Coral Room of the Westlake Branch of the Library. Bossier will talk on "Books for Holiday Giving."

This gathering, as all Friends of the Library meetings, is open to the public.

CAP THAT lovely flower show in Serramonte Shopping Center earlier this fall? Mrs. Peter Alba dropped by this past week end to supply a list of the prize winners.

William P. Braas won the "sweepstakes in horticulture: David Wright, artistic sweepstakes; Mrs. Ella Adams, Louis Filariski, Gary Beck and Bill Braas were given awards of merit: Award of Horticulture Excellence, Gary Beck; the Julian P. Gar-grove trophy went to Grace Cannova and the City of Daly City trophy was given to Forrest Eby.

Braas won the President's Trophy and Hertha Overbeck received the First National Bank Trophy.

Grace Cannova took the Victor Constantinov Award while the junior division awards went to Steve Martin, Donna Martin, Tanya Alba, Jeanne Martin, Teresa Hamilton, Dave Starck and Sandy Starck.

Louis Filariski, the Daly City Garden Club president, reported that there were 39 individual exhibitors in this show, the 22nd annual Standard Flower Show put together by the local club.

ANOTHER LIST OF winners comes from the Mary's Help Hospital Guild and that list is headed by Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Cronin who won the Guild's Luau Award, a trip to Hawaii for two.

Other Luau winners were Mrs. Marye Duffy, Mrs. Bunny Lycett and Mrs. Ora Swanson's little grandson, Jaime.

HAWAII IS going to be crowded with people from the Bay Area during the next few weeks and among those who will be enjoying a bit of winter sun in the island state are former residents Mr. and Mrs. James Madden.

The Maddens, who now make their home in San Anselmo, will be on hand when their son Jim marries Saundre Lynn Bowyer of Navato on Dec. 5 and then it is off to Hawaii to take advantage of a pair of tour tickets they won in a contest sponsored by a San Francisco radio station.

Two ACT Plays Set

Advanced students of the American Conservatory Theater's Young Conservatory will present four public performances in December.

The youthful performers will be seen in "Antigone" and "Hansel and Gretel." "Antigone," the tragic tale of a young woman who defies her king and dies for her ideals, will be presented Dec. 12 and 13 at 8 p.m., at the Hyde and Green Plant Company, 1898 Hyde St., San Francisco.

A new open-theater version of "Hansel and Gretel," the classic fairy tale about two children who find a gingerbread house and are menaced by a witch's wrath, will be performed Dec. 18 and 19 at 2:30 p.m., also at the Hyde Street showcase. Intended for young children, this colorful production invites audience participation.

Tickets for both presentations will be available at the door.

Promoted

Maury W. Walker, 19, son of Mrs. B. Edwards, 617 Larchmont Drive, Colma, recently was promoted to Army Private First Class, while serving with the 2nd Armored Cavalry Regiment in Bamberg, Germany.

Pvt. Walker is a communications center specialist in the regiment.

The private is a 1974 graduate of Westmoor High School, Daly City, and attended Wiley College, Marshall, Tex.

MOMMY AND SANTA CLAUS

Bob and Barbara Bruno get into a festive spirit early to publicize the annual Christmas dinner dance of St. Andrews Catholic Church. "Mistletoe Magic" will be held from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. Dec. 4 at the church center, Southgate and Sullivan avenues in Daly City. Proceeds benefit the building fund.

Convention for 2,000 Top Dogs on Saturday

What happens when representatives of Japan, Mexico, Hungary, England, Russia, Germany and France assemble in the San Francisco Bay Area?

In this case, it's a canine convention of more than 2,000 of the nation's top dogs whose origins are found in countries around the world.

The San Mateo Kennel Club All-Breed Dog Show and Obedience Trial, scheduled for Sunday at the County Fairgrounds in San Mateo, is a showcase for the tremendous variety of international breeds that have been gradually introduced in the United States and now populate our country.

There will be Akitas, a breed originating in Japan, Rotweilers from Germany, Lhasa Apos from Tibet, Chihuahuas from Mexico, and Terriers from England — plus over 100 other breeds. This slate of familiar and exotic canines provides a favorite annual "spectator sport" for Bay Area families.

Judges mean business as they scrutinize each breed in continuous competition from 8 a.m. through the day until "Best in Show" honors at about 6 p.m. Members of the judging panel come from as far away as Canada, Texas and Virginia to participate.

For Bay Area families, the show is an opportunity to have a low-cost outing and discover more about man's best friend. Obedience Trial exercises are always heavily-attended by admirers of the well-disciplined dogs who perform intricate maneuvers at the command of their handlers.

As one of the nation's venerable all-breed events, the San Mateo show has grown steadily in popularity. Admission is $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for youngsters over six and free entry for toddlers.

The San Mateo County Fairgrounds is just off Bayshore Freeway (Highway 101) on Delaware street at the Half Moon Bay exit.

Pacifica Tests In 3R's OKd

Two North San Mateo County school districts will work together to develop minimum standards of proficiency in the three basic skills of reading, written expression and computation, the districts' trustees decided at a joint meeting Tuesday night.

The Laguna Salada Elementary School District of Pacifica and the Jefferson Union High School District will develop the standards over the next year and half.

The Laguna Salada schools feed students into two Jefferson District high schools in Pacifica, Oceana and Terra Nova.

According to Ernest Ribera, recent state law mandates that districts develop proficiency levels in the basic subjects for students in seventh through twelfth grades.

The law, Ribera said, states that standards must be identified and put in effect for students who graduate in 1980.

Laguna Salada Trustee Grady Hesters suggested that the districts examine other means of evaluating students besides traditional testing and Jefferson Trustee John Sloane asked the staffs of both districts to consider applying proficiency standards to "expanded basic subjects."

Sloane said although the law mandates that standards be developed in reading, writing and computation, the law allows districts to set proficiency levels for other subjects.

The trustee suggested that the basics be expanded to include literature, political science and fine arts. In other business, the Jefferson Board approved a memorandum of understanding that grants the high school district classified workers a 5 per cent pay increase, retroactive to July 1.

FEATHER FALLS Feather Falls, one of the highest and most picturesque waterfalls in the United States, is reported by the National Automobile Club to be located in Plumas National Forest in northern California.

Plants Blooming Next February

The Second Annual World of Plants and Crafts has been set for Feb. 18 through 27 at the Daly City Cow Palace.

Over 108,000 people attended the 1976 presentation which was highly acclaimed by the press and plant industry for its displays and "how-to" features.

The World of Plants and Crafts will again devote considerable space and time to the educational process involved with indoor and/or outdoor gardening.

For example, one of the major displays will take visitors from seed to pallet via four major segments: A circular garden — the yield from that garden — preservation and preparation of food from the yield — all coordinated with a guest speaker, lecturing twice a day.

Visitors will also be treated to a special treat when they buy the official show program, Sunset magazine's new "Joy of Gardening" will be included free with every program.

Harold Copeland, show manager, announced expansion of this successful show into two new markets following the San Francisco show.

The Los Angeles Sports Arena will be the site of the First Annual World of Plants and Crafts for Southern California in a four-day show March 10-13, and "Living With Plants" will immediately follow in the Phoenix, Arizona Civic Plaza March 17-20.

Arts Unit Selects Members

The Millbrae Arts Commission met recently at the Millbrae Recreation Department.

Appointed members of this commission are Paul Fericano, a poet, who was named chairman, and Ruth Maynard, an artist who was named vice chairwoman.

Other members include Marietta Tassos, director of the San Mateo County Choral Society, who will be recording secretary; Joan Ruggles; Irene Thommen; Amy Bisson, Mills High School representative; and Councilwoman Mary Griffin, all of whom will serve on various committees during the coming year.

Among the topics of business discussed was the planned "Messiah" Sing-Along scheduled for Dec. 12 at 8 p.m. at Capuchino High School.

This Sing-Along is being co-sponsored by the San Mateo County Choral Society and the Arts Commission.

All interested singers in the Millbrae, San Bruno and Burlingame areas are invited to participate in this program.

Property Tax Limit

Officials at both the state and local level of the 88,000-member California Association of Realtors see as one of their primary 1977 goals that of working with local government in attempting to limit property tax increases. By pulling the rope tightly on real property taxes, Realtors feel homeownership will be broadened, rather than narrowed, thus aiding the overall economy. Jerome Blank of Albany, 1977 CAR president-elect, is at the right, and to the left is Konrad von Emster, president-elect of the Pacific-Half Moon Bay Board of Realtors.

Realtors Goal: Home Tax Limit

The 88,000-member California Association of Realtors is committed to helping the average homeowner in his fight against rising property taxes.

CAR President-elect Jerome Blank of Albany said recently that one of his primary goals for 1977 is to "put the lid on property taxes so that homeownership is broadened — not narrowed."

In order to accomplish this, Blank said, the state Realtors' organization is dedicated in 1977 to work with local government in an effort to stem the increase in local government expenditures.

"We will request city councils, boards of supervisors and directors of special assessment districts to look at their overall budgets for 1977," the president-elect said.

"Additionally, we would hope these governmental bodies would seek to restrict increases in their budget to a minimum required by the normal cost of living increases," Blank stated.

The president-elect, who assumes office Jan. 1, emphasized that CAR has a special committee working on overall tax reform.

"The objective of this committee is to insure that homeowners and tenants (who must pay rent based on tax increases) are not saddled with the major portion of the cost of operating local government," Blank said.

As property values rise, assessors must increase the assessed value of property, Blank said. In fact, he added, they are mandated by law to do so.

Blank suggested that city councils and boards of supervisors decrease the tax rate when assessments rise by more than the normal rate of country-wide inflation.

"By decreasing the tax rate," Blank concluded, "homeownership can be expanded to all Californians — especially the average home-buyer."

Photos of Historic Buildings on Display

The San Mateo County Historical Museum is presently exhibiting gallery photographs and measured drawings of historic buildings of the San Francisco Peninsula.

The color and black and white photographs are the work of Jack E. Boucher, supervisor of photography and pictorial records, Office of Archaeology and Historic Preservation of the National Park Service. The detailed drawings and site plans have been executed by Amy Weinstein, Stephen Farneth and Kim Spurgeon.

The structures represented in the exhibit cover the period from the 1850's to the 1920's with such diverse examples as the Pigeon Point Lighthouse (1871-72), Portola Valley School (1909), Stanford Memorial Church (1899-1902), The Johnston House of Half Moon Bay (1853).

All the material is taken from the just-published book, "An Enduring Heritage" by Dorothy Regnery (Stanford University Press).

The exhibit will run through November and the book is available at the Museum and is sponsored by the Junior League of Palo Alto, Inc. in cooperation with the Historic American Buildings Survey of the National Park Service.

The San Mateo County Historical Museum is located on the campus of College of San Mateo, 1700 W. Hillsdale Blvd., San Mateo, and is open Monday-Friday, 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. and Saturdays, 10:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

DC 'Backseat Drivers' Oppose Auto Air Bags

Members of the Daly City "Backseat Driver" Public Panel, a citizen's advisory group to the Department of Motor Vehicles, have recommended to Federal Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman that air bags not be required as standard equipment in all new cars.

The controversial air bag is a passive restraint system that would, according to proponents, prevent between 8,800 and 19,000 highway deaths each year, and at the same time, reduce or prevent many thousands of serious injuries.

Stored in the steering column or dashboard of a car, the air bag is an energy-absorbing cushion that inflates automatically upon impact in a head-on collision.

It deflates instantly and does not interfere with the driver's control of the automobile.

Although proponents claim that the use of air bags saves lives, the Daly City Public Panel questioned their reliability and cost.

The panel questioned whether air bags could open accidentally and actually cause an accident or fail to inflate when an accident occurred.

One major manufacturer has made the air bags available on some of its 1976 luxury models at an additional cost of $315. It claims that, because of cost, there has been little public demand for the air bags — so little, in fact, that the company is not offering air bags on its 1977 models, even as an option.

Formed to advise the Department of Motor Vehicles on its policies and procedures, the Daly City Public Panel seeks to make the bureaucracy more responsive to the needs and concerns of the public.

In reaching a decision on the air bag requirement the Daly City Public Panel joins the 80 public panels located throughout California that were surveyed on the passive restraint issue.

Statewide, public panel reaction has been divided on the issue. To date, 21 per cent of the panelists favor mandatory air bag installation and 79 per cent oppose it.

Panelists also cited a recent Motor Vehicle Manufacturer's Association poll that showed that "only one in seven Americans favors this unproven safety device."

Summarizing the Daly City Public Panel's decision, chairman Tony Robinson said, "We feel this type of equipment should be optional, and that it is not the responsibility of the federal government to protect citizens from themselves."

Secretary Coleman, who will receive the results of this statewide survey, has stated that he will decide whether or not to institute air bag regulations before Jan. 1, 1977. Any decision reached by Secretary Coleman is subject to review by Congress.

The general public is welcome to attend the next Daly City Public Panel meeting on Dec. 13 at 1500 Sullivan Ave. at 7 p.m.

The panel will discuss bonding of dealerships, enforcement of vehicle registration, and office hours of DMV at that time.

Those who would like to join the panel should contact L. T. Buchanan Jr. at the Daly City field office of the DMV by calling 755-9113.

Three Teams Still in Hunch League

After three weeks of league play, in the Daly City Recreation Department sponsored Adult Three-Man Hunch League, only three of the 15 teams still remain unbeaten.

Under Six Feet Division
Serra Stereo, led by Tony Passanisi and Brian Dorn remained unbeaten by defeating the Sticks 41-31.

Passanisi tallied a game high 19 points and Dorn added 15. Gus Milon and Bob Fiddler scored 14 and 12 points, respectively.

In the marathon game of the night, the Wonders edged a stubborn "If" team 55-51.

Rich Olsen led all scorers with 23 points for the Wonders and teammates John Franicevich and Fred Sacasa added 18 points and 12 points. "If" had three men in double figures as Ed Russell scored 14 points, Marv Vigo 12 points, and Al Voight 10 points.

A 24-point performance by Rene Mariluch helped the Celtics defeat BBLB 41-24, and remain unbeaten. Charlie Smithson's 12 points was high for BBLB.

In the final game of the evening, Tippy's defeated the Bank Shots 41-34. Joe Hallisy, Tippy's, led all scorers with 19 points and teammate Jim O'Donnell scored 16 points. Tom McHenry and Fran Swanson paced the Bank Shots with 14 and 11 points respectively.

Open Division
Mike Murphy's 18 points

wasn't enough as the Jaguars were defeated by the Birds 40-33. Mike Jones scored 15 points and Steve Siegel 10 points to lead the way for the Birds. Tom Courtney scored 11 points for the Jaguars.

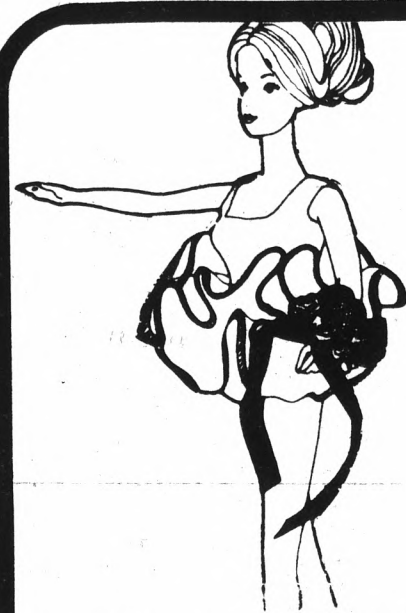

The Sportsmen remained unbeaten and in sole possession of first place with a 40-20 victory over the Dirty Shirts. Mike Kennedy led all scorers with 19 points to pace the Sportsmen.

Dan Hallford and Bill Patterson of the Dirty

Shirts and Don Banford and Will Smith of the Sportsmen each scored eight points.

In the final game, the City Slickers defeated the No-Stars 40-38. Tom Miller (City Slickers) and Don Van Galder (No-Stars) tied for high point honors with 16 points.

Other players in double figures were Ron Mitchell, of the City Slickers, with 10 points and Clinton Gallaway of the No-Stars with 14 points.

Holiday Favorite Offered

A holiday favorite at the Morrison Planetarium for many years has been "The Christmas Star", to be offered for the 24th consecutive year Nov. 26 through Jan. 2.

This program takes us back in time to that magical night in Bethlehem when a magnificent star shown on the horizon. What was that wonderment in the sky? A cosmic explosion? A rampant comet? An enormous fireball? Under the great dome in the Theatre of the Stars, visitors will explore many explanations.

"The Christmas Star" is presented daily at 2 p.m. with shows on Wednesday and Thursday at 8 p.m.

Extra matinees are slated from Dec. 18 to Jan. 2, at 12:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

There will be no shows at all on Christmas Day. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for those 17 and under.

SF Showing of Christmas Art

Most artists have at one time or another made a special piece for family and friends, a piece not always typical of the artist's style.

A Christmas exhibition of just such objects made by more than 100 California artists will open at the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art on Dec. 1, culminating with a sale of the entire show on Dec. 7 at the Museum's Holiday Party from 5:30 - 7:30 p.m. The sale will continue through Dec. 9.

According to guest curator Natasha Nicholson who organized the exhibition, the artists were invited to make objects especially and exclusively for this show and the results have been extraordinary.

Toys, quilts, ceramics, dolls, boxes, functional and non-functional objects, and many surprises comprise this unique exhibition and sale to be open to the public during regular museum hours, 10 a.m.-10 p.m., Tuesday through Friday; Saturday and Sunday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

SSF Gingerly Mulls Use Permit Application

Although they have no idea who is the legal owner of the property, South San Francisco councilmen this week somewhat reluctantly considered a use permit for an auto body repair shop at 619 S. Airport Blvd.

Ownership of the former furniture warehouse already is being challenged by the two private parties involved in the court, and the council took careful pains not to end up in court itself.

Mayor Leo Padreddi said it was a "difficult situation" that they could study for three days.

The council's dilemma involved the consideration of a use permit application by Victor Brincat, a local businessman, for an auto repair shop. The shop is to be run by his son, Arthur.

However, when the Planning Commission first studied the application last August, it learned that Brincat could be occupying the building illegally.

Brincat had entered lease purchase agreement with Metropolitan Furniture Co. in June. He was to lease the building until January and then complete the $155,000 purchase.

However, Metropolitan officials have said Brincat has refused to allow his $10,000 deposit check for the building to be cashed.

The building's owners have sued Brincat in San Mateo County Superior Court, alleging that he has refused to carry out the conditions of the agreement and that Brincat has never had sufficient funds in his account to cover the $10,000 check.

Meanwhile, Arthur Brincat has opened the doors of the warehouse he says his father owns and is running an auto repair business.

Confused over their own role in the legal controversy, the planning commissioners approved the use permit in October but added a list of stringent conditions.

Brincat took issue with most of those conditions, especially with a requirement that he deposit with the city a bond of at least $5,000, and appealed to the City Council.

Only Councilman Dick Battaglia considered rejecting the use permit entirely. His motion to do so died for lack of a second.

Brincat's attorney, Allen Schnibben of South San Francisco, protested Wednesday night that his client can't meet many of the conditions at this time because the court might decide he is not the legal owner of the building.

In particular, he said, Brincat does not have the authority at this time to install sprinklers remove a large roof sign and install a ventilation system.

Schnibben said the requirement that Brincat post a $5,000 bond or a sum equivalent to the cost of the building repairs, whichever is greater, is grossly unfair.

The sprinkler system alone, Schnibben said, would cost at least $10,000.

"You're asking a businessman to come up with a $15,000 out of his own pocket," Schnibben said. "I feel the city has adequate procedures to take care of any body should he be silly enough not to comply with his use permit."

He suggested that the council require Brincat to comply only with conditions that do not require building changes until after the ownership question is resolved in court.

City Atty. John Noonan asked for testimony from the city fire marshal, building inspector and a planning commissioner to justify the council's action in case the matter does end up in court.

However, even Noonan said the $5,000 bond would be improper and perhaps illegal. The council rejected that condition.

Schnibben acknowledged that Brincat is working in the building without a use permit or even a business license. A planning commissioner had suggested earlier that Brincat is a "squatter."

However, Schnibben said it's the city's fault that Brincat is unable to get the necessary permits. That's why, he said, the Brincats opened for business anyway.

"We certainly don't want to vacate the building right now," he said. His clients are paying a monthly lease of $1,140.

A somewhat hesitant council almost approved the permit requiring what Noonan called "public safety items — overhead sprinklers among them."

However, as an afterthought, it continued the application to Dec. 1 to mull over the problem in the meantime.

Mailer Found Lawful

San Bruno Assistant City Atty. Michael Galligan has advised that a public relations firm did not violate the State Elections Code when it failed to print the name and address of the printer and publisher of a brochure it recently distributed relating to a referendum petition.

Galligan rendered the opinion at the request of Councilman Richard Griffith.

The councilman last week charged that those who had prepared the mailer, which called the current referendum petition on The Place apartment expansion "unnecessary and unjustified," violated the Elections Code.

Griffith said Section 12049 of the code mandates that any brochure having reference to an election shall include the name and address of the printer and publisher.

In a letter to Griffith, Galligan said Section 12049 was declared void in a 1962 court decision. He added that a similar section dealing with unidentified circulars has been declared unconstitutional "under a freedom of speech analysis."

Even assuming that both section were constitutional, Galligan wrote, "no violation of the Election Code occurred since the brochure was mailed prior to the appearance of a measure on the ballot."

Last week, some 9,000 residents of San Bruno received a brochure in the mail that cautioned against signing a referendum petition. The petition is being circulated by a group of San Brunans who opposed the rezoning of a seven-acre parcel to allow for the expansion of The Place apartments.

Proponents of the petition need to gather some 1,500 signatures of registered voters to qualify the issue for the ballot.

The City Council, by a 3-2 vote, has approved the rezoning. The mailer was prepared by the public relations firm of Heagerty Companies of Santa Clara. The firm represents The Lincoln Properties Co., owners of the The Place apartments.

Dave Heagerty announced last week that the mailer was prepared on behalf of a citizens group that supports The Place expansion.

Marie Farnsworth, Boutique Chairwoman, invites the public to "stop by and shop for that special gift for all those special people on your gift list."

Original gift items, candles and a tree trimmed with many one-of-a-kind ornaments are just a few of the items available for holiday entertaining and gift giving this season.

The "Candy Cane Tree" will be of special interest this year with a hand-crafted afghan lc1318.ftmade by Shirley Molver to be presented the night of the Children's Program, Dec. 9.

ACT Students Will Present Two Plays

Advanced students of the American Conservatory Theater's Young Conservatory will present four public performances in December. The youthful performers will be seen in "Antigone" and "Hansel and Gretel."

"Antigone," the tragic tale of a young woman who defies her king and dies for her ideals, will be presented Dec. 12 and 13 at 8:00 p.m., at the Hyde and Green Plant Company, 1898 Hyde St., San Francisco.

A new open-theater version of "Hansel and Gretel," the classic fairy tale about two children who find a gingerbread house and are menaced by a witch's wrath, will be performed Dec. 18 and 19 at 2:30, also at the Hyde St. showcase. Intended for young children, this colorful production invites audience participation.

Tickets for both presentations will be available at the door.

Lamaze Class Set

Something remains to be said for drama teachers who choose the hardest plays of the New York stage for their school productions and for the students who spend hours learning lines far removed from their world of homework and ball games.

Their accomplishments are not loudly acclaimed, yet they are profound and worthy of recognition. Through them the schools and the whole community have an opportunity to explore the basic nature of mankind and his problems.

With Arthur Miller's "The Crucible," Diane Streeter and her crew at Serramonte High School were exploring the question of the liberty of conscience. They had a play to present that portrays the problems of a lofty spirit in the face of fear and emotion. They were doing a play that has been called dramatic fireworks as well as cold, bloodless, unemotional drama.

Sensing this, William Wood as the Puritan, John Proctor, and Tom Fitzpatrick as Deputy Governor Danforth led a large cast in capturing the theme and the mood of the author, Arthur Miller. As Elizabeth Proctor, Tia Speros turned in a performance equal to the many she has given during her high school career. Karen Guzman, Lee Coykendall and K.D. Banks were impressive as they led a group of younger girls in portraying the maidens who caused the Salem witch trials.

FOR STREETER, it must have been a task to train high school students to play the parts of adult people of another age and time. However, the performance on opening night showed that she had them trained to do the job as well as could be expected. If they got the feel of intense drama and human passion from their participation, then no more can be asked.

The presence of William Wood and Tom Fitzpatrick insured the play's success. Streeter was wise to use these teachers from Serramonte High School for parts that are far beyond the capabilities of high school age people.

One of the most delightful aspects of the play was the rotating stage that was in the Serramonte lecture hall. However, I could not drive from my mind the horrible thought that there is no place in Daly City for a performance that is worthy of the directors and actors and musicians that serve the people of a large portion of San Mateo County.

As I sat there I thought of the next two productions scheduled for Daly City: "The Messiah" with the San Mateo Choral Society and Westmoor High School's version of "Twelfth Night." Both of them will present actors and musicians who will try with all their hearts to please their audiences, but both will be performed in inadequate facilities.

Let us hope that someday this situation will be changed. Meanwhile let us support the schools and the city in their endeavors to grace our area with fine art.

BART Adds 300 Parking Spaces

A portion of the new three-level parking structure at the BART Daly City Station has been opened, providing in excess of 300 automobile stalls.

The opening of the garage completes the first phase of construction on the new parking facility. The second phase, which will bring the number of new auto spaces to 816, or twice the capacity of the original parking lot, is scheduled for completion in the early summer of 1977.

Until total completion, the gravel parking area adjacent to the newly opened structure will be closed to allow for construction of the remainder of the three-level structure.

Motorists desiring to utilize the new garage area may enter on West Station Road which runs parallel to the west side of the Daly City Station, or from St. Charles Street.

To alleviate traffic congestion during the evening commute hours, BART requests that motorists desiring to pick up or drop off passengers should utilize the mid-day parking area, or the "A" lot on the east side of the station.

The new Daly City parking structure was begun in August, 1975, and will cost $3,945,000.

CSM Upset by Chabot 24-6

By CHRISTOPHER STAVE
Sports Writer

College of San Mateo's football team hit some all-time highs in the middle of what seemed like an all-time low Friday night at Chabot.

Ultimately, CSM's passing game put all sorts of things in the record books — except a Golden Gate Conference championship.

And the championship is what mattered to the Bulls.

dogs, some angry and some teary, who trudged off the foggy Chabot field after being upset by the Gladiators 24-6 in the season finale.

San Jose won the title by beating Laney 13-0. CSM finished second with a fine 8-2 overall record.

Some outstanding personal efforts were dimmed by the mute message on the scoreboard.

CSM quarterback Ralph Costanzo, who had taken over for the injured Randy Gomez at midseason, completed 30 of 48 passes for 386 yards — breaking the school single-game yardage mark set by Gomez in the first game of the year.

Paul Bachtold extended his CSM receiving record, and won the GGC pass-catching title by a single reception over teammate John O'Leary, 57-56.

O'Leary caught 10 passes for 177 yards and CSM's lone touchdown against Chabot. Bachtold caught seven for 118.

But that whole air show went for naught. It's tough to total 405 yards and score just six points. And it's tough to win when you give up 382 yards yourself.

"They caught a lot of passes," said Chabot cornerback Kelly Hardiman, "and they caught us a lot without a man defending over the middle. But every time they got close we stopped them, and that's what counts." Precisely.

Some observers might have thought Costanzo was a goat — he threw an end zone interception to kill one first-half drive and not long afterward threw another that was returned 16 yards for Chabot's first score.

But when you throw 48 times and only have two picked off and get 386 yards, you're doing your job. Bachtold and O'Leary each dropped passes (Bachtold had six points go through his hands), but two wide receivers who combine for 103 catches for 1,777 yards and 15 touchdowns in one season, often making picture-book catches, are doing their job too.

Often they were out alone, when the tight end was held in for pass protection blocking.

It's a pointless exercise, pointing the finger of blame. It was just one of those games, and Chabot took it away.

Chabot's defense, second best in the conference going into the game, couldn't stop Costanzo. But it could stop the run — CSM only netted 19 yards on the ground. The Bulldogs, falling behind 14-0 in the first half, had to go to their old reliable weapon. It was reliable, but not productive.

Meanwhile Chabot's offense, which has been spotty all year, folding on occasion when the breaks went the other guy's way, was a model of balance. Steve Grant was just one of three quarterbacks Chabot has used this year; he was ranked tops in leadership quality and second in passing ability.

But CSM won't question Grant's arm. The 19-year-old from Dublin completed his first seven passes, killing the Bulldogs on the short quick toss (which often went for long quick yards). Completions of 23 and 33 yards set Chabot up for Grant's one-yard TD run with 0:20 left in the first half for a 14-0 intermission lead.

CSM finally scored late in the third quarter. Costanzo cut Chabot to ribbons with six straight completions: to Bachtold for 17,

Owner Need Not Build Path

A South San Francisco developer recently was told that he won't have to build a paved pathway through his property, although that path was promised to Sunshine Gardens neighborhood parents in 1974.

Dick Battaglia was the only councilman who voted against taking the pathway out of the city's general plan.

Only Councilman Terry Mirri was on the council in August 1974 when the pathway for Parkway Junior High School students was added to the general plan.

The majority of the council agreed recently that requiring Maurice Brosnan to build a path through his property was not only unfair but that the pathway itself might be dangerous for the children who would use it.

Brosnan, a South San Francisco resident, obtained the Planning Commission's approval in August to rezone his property at Willow and Miller avenues from single-family residential to restricted multiple-family for future development.

However, what Brosnan didn't know when he purchased the property in 1975 is that the council had decided a year earlier that whoever develops the land should construct a pathway through the middle.

Acting City Manager Frank Addiego said the council had required the pathway in 1974 when parents living near that area pressured the council for a public pathway.

The parents had said they wanted the path for the safety of their children since the council had decided that Miller Avenue would not be extended as a through street.

Brosnan told the council last week that a pathway through the middle of his property would be an invitation for vandalism and burglaries when apartment units eventually are built on the land.

He said it would be an attractive place for junior high school students to congregate on their way to and from school and that his project eventually would earn a bad reputation.

His attorney, Floyd Parma of South San Francisco, indicated the issue could end up in court if the council didn't agree with Brosnan.

Parma said the pathway — required to be 15 feet wide, with lighting and fencing — would be expensive and would diminish the marketability of the property.

It was the council's original intent that the end of the pathway on that private property would connect with a public pathway through the public safety facility site at the corner of Grand and Chestnut avenues.

But as Parma reminded the council, it now appears that facility may never be built and the city may end up selling the land.

It would mean, he said, that Brosnan would end up with an expensive paved pathway headed nowhere.

One Sunshine Gardens resident who fought for the pathway in 1974, Joan Doan, said she agreed that Brosnan should not be penalized for purchasing the property.

However, she said children on their way to school will continue to cut through the property whether there is a pathway or not.

The council focused its decision on the possibility that a pathway could create more trouble than it's worth.

"I could see a real police problem there," said Mayor Leo Paddreddi. "We might get ourselves in a lot of trouble."

The pathway would be dedicated to the city and fall into the Police Department's hands after it was built.

Training Act Hearing Slated

A public meeting to explain the new structure San Mateo County has adopted for carrying out Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) programs has been scheduled for the basement conference room in the Hall of Justice, Redwood City, Tuesday, Nov. 30, at 2 p.m.

E. Frances David, the county's manpower director, said interested persons and representatives of agencies providing CETA services have been invited to the session.

Under the new program, a single CETA subcontractor has been selected in each of four geographical areas of the county — North, Central, South and Coastside — to provide a full range of CETA services to adult residents through Employment Training Units (ETU).

Persons seeking CETA training will now apply at the agency in their geographical area. In addition, a fifth countywide ETU has been established to serve CETA-eligible youth and young adults — ages 16 to 21 for out-of-school persons, and ages 16 to 24 for in-school persons.

Referral information concerning CETA programs and eligibility may be obtained from the Manpower Planning and Administration Office, 704 Winslow St., Redwood City.

Rape, Robbery Charge Lodged

A 19-year-old San Bruno man was arrested and charged with robbery and rape early Monday at The Place Apartments.

Raymond Myorga, 107 Piccadilly Place, allegedly invited a 17-year-old female acquaintance from South San Francisco to his apartment Sunday night to return a ring he said belonged to her.

However, when the young woman arrived, Myorga allegedly dragged her into the bedroom, where she said she was raped.

The woman also claims Myorga robbed her of $1 and another ring that she was wearing.

She went to the emergency room at Peninsula Hospital and the incident was then reported to the San Bruno Police Department.

Officers arrested Myorga at his apartment at 3 a.m. today.

George Mardikian's Holiday Message

Give special heed to GEORGE MARDIKIAN'S traditional Thanksgiving message. Year after year, the words of thanks by this world-famed restaurateur, author and lecturer have been read and appreciated by one and all — and this year is no exception. "Break bread" this Thanksgiving Day at George Mardikian's OMAR KHAYYAM'S restaurant in San Francisco. Thanksgiving dinner will be served from noon to 10 p.m. The management and staff of THE CASTAWAY, Coyote Point, are preparing for a record-breaking turnout of diners on Thanksgiving Day. Although some construction is taking place around the beach area, The Castaway is open for business as usual. The traditional holiday dinner will be served in the BENJAMIN FRANKLIN HOTEL'S Willow dining room on Thanksgiving Day. This is a special occasion each year for great numbers of Peninsula's, who look forward to a holiday dinner in one of San Mateo's landmark hotels. Fresh fruit and vegetables are a specialty at YOLANDA'S TERMINAL CAFE, which is located in the South San Francisco Produce Terminal. A festive turkey dinner is on the Thanksgiving agenda here. Make reservations now.

HAVE A HAPPY THANKSGIVING!

Lehr's Greenhouse Perfect Setting

LEHR'S GREENHOUSE in San Francisco is the perfect setting for Thanksgiving dinner — a beautiful garden in full bloom. Owner MURRAY LEHR will be featuring a special holiday dinner menu from noon that spotlights traditional favorites such as Roast Turkey and Baked Honey-Cured Ham, along with continental specialties such as Chicken Kiev. Dinners are family-priced and include Lehr's famous gourmet salad bar.

ROMANO'S Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, will drop the blinds on Thanksgiving Day and ENRICO ROMANO will head for the hills. Who knows, maybe he will schedule a turkey shoot. The VILLA COFFEE HOUSE will be serving Thanksgiving turkey dinners from 2 to 8 p.m. $4.95 includes all the holiday side dishes (child's plate, $2.75). Dinner dancing to go along with a special holiday menu will highlight Thanksgiving in the new supperclub setting of the SHIRT TAIL restaurant in Palo Alto. Dinners will be served all day from 11:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. At 8 p.m., the first show with live entertainment by KATZ'N'JAMM and dancing begins. No cover charge. The Thanksgiving dinner menu at PLACE PIGALLE restaurant, which has worldwide recognition for many of its outstanding dishes, will certainly attract the gourmets. RIGHT SIDE UP, a six-piece group led by a dynamic gal vocalist, is now appearing nightly, Tuesday through Saturday, in The Aquarius lounge at SHERATON INN, Burlingame. A recent discovery of the Sheraton management, the band has been signed for a stint which includes New Year's Eve.

Three dining rooms will be utilized on Thanksgiving Day at BERTOLUCCI'S in South San Francisco. LARRY and LOLA will feature a holiday menu for the occasion, with dinner service from 3 to 10 p.m. Early reservations are advised. In keeping with the restaurant's tradition, THE SHADOWS' new owner, CHARLIE MC FADDEN, will close the downtown San Mateo restaurant for the Thanksgiving holiday. This holds true for Christmas and New Year's, giving CHARLIE, DAVE, GEORGE and the rest of the staff holidays with their families. Enjoy a cool drink and good conversation in the cocktail lounge at the COSTA BRAVA restaurant, which offers a beautiful view of San Francisco's skyline.

Thanksgiving will be a holiday for ED CHALKAGIAN and staffs at his CHICKEN UNLIMITED and YERVANT'S restaurants.

AMERICAN TRADITIONS THANKSGIVING • 1976

The observance of this Holiday originated when our forefathers landed on our Eastern shores to seek freedom of religion, leaving behind oppression and misunderstanding.
They thanked God for their preservation so they might serve Him without fear.

Today we, the citizens of the United States of America, while celebrating our Bicentennial, should always be cognizant that this great country of ours has contributed more for the betterment of the human race than all the nations put together throughout history.

In our country the law guarantees every citizen respect, the Dignity of Being an American — the most precious thing in the world.

Let us thank God for the four freedoms with which our heritage has endowed us.

Let us ask Him to give us the courage and intelligence to preserve these freedoms.

Let us pray that this troubled world may be granted lasting peace, in answer to the prayers of all mankind throughout the world.

Let us not forget that we are the most compassionate nation in the world, which is a recognized, genuine American tradition to aid our fellow man everywhere.

May God continue to bless our country and help us to show the rest of the world the true meaning of brotherly love.

With great humility and gratitude.

Jackie Phillips Wows Audiences

JACKIE PHILLIPS, the wacky red-head, is delighting customers at FINOCCHIO'S once again with his sagging arches and "elegant" furs and comical expressions and songs. His quick wit and zany antics and all the other glamorous and funny Finocchio entertainers attract countless customers each night. New production numbers of "Cabaret '76" and "Chinese Fantasy" are show stoppers. The RAMADA INN on Fisherman's Wharf will be serving a complete Thanksgiving dinner for $5.95. Youngsters, $4. For after-dinner exercise, enjoy the disco music. Plenty of free parking. BOB THEISEN won the Third Annual Golf Tournament which was sponsored by the NEW SOUTHERN restaurant last month. And according to the records, he also won the journey three years ago. Bob, great friend of owners NICK SBARRA and DAVE LITTLE, makes this South San Francisco restaurant his "training quarters." No dancing at the PRIMROSE GARDENS Thanksgiving Day. Just easy listening music. The GOOD NATURE group will be entertaining. The BAYHILL LOUNGE will not be open for Thanksgiving. The whole crew wishes each and every one a happy day. Start off Thanksgiving Day with breakfast at THE OMELETTE HOUSE on Peninsula Avenue. Service from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. only (not open that evening).

ON HIS OWN

Rolland Raven, a chef for most of his 39 years, is now the proprietor of his first restaurant venture, Ravens Cottage in Belmont. All who have enjoyed his food and hospitality have been repeat customers. Not open Thanksgiving Day.

Tom Jones Enjoys Scotty Campbell's

You are so right if you thought that was TOM JONES dining at SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S the other evening. The lad with him was his 19-year-old son, MARK, who is light technician during his father's stage appearances. First plates of turkey dinner will be served here Thanksgiving Day from 3:30 p.m. Regular menu also. VINCE'S ITALIAN AND SEAFOOD restaurant will not be open for Thanksgiving. This is a LICATA tradition — and a great one for the employees who serve them so loyally. PHIL LEHR'S Pay-By-The-Ounce method of steaks service at the STEAKERY, on the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton Hotel Tower, Taylor Street entrance, is so unique it is registered nationally. PHIL cuts steaks to order — any size — so your appetite determines the price of the complete dinner. From the looks of BARNEY'S and the SOUTH TAHOE NUGGET advertisement, this is "where its at" for breakfast, lunch or dinner. While enjoying any meal time, the Keno lights flicker winners and offer "Entertainment the Nevada Way." The dining room at INTERNATIONAL INN, South San Francisco, is now back in the swing of things. General Manager DOUG YOUNG and his staff are taking reservations for Thanksgiving Day dining. A holiday menu with a choice of five excellent entrees will be featured. $5.75 for the traditional turkey dinner.

Big Thanksgiving bash at the RODEWAY INN, South San Francisco, and you are invited to make a reservation. Complete dinner from $4.95; children, $2.95. Regular menu also. LA PIN-ATA in Burlingame will not be open on Thanksgiving, but Friday will be the regular busy scene for Mexican dining. "Happy Holiday" says CHRIS. JOE and LOU ERCOLI's elegant LEANING TOWER in South San Francisco will begin Thanksgiving Day dinner service at 2:30 p.m. The Ercolis and their chefs have created a traditional holiday menu for the occasion. MARTINELLI'S STEAK PIT in Millbrae, long-famed for steaks, features only Midwestern, corn-fed beef. You can be sure it is the finest quality available. Just ask any of their regular patrons.

Outdoor Education Center Challenged

"Frankly, I'm disappointed in the way we've got this bogged down. If we proceed at the pace we did here today we would go on ad infinitum, and I'm sure no one would be happy there. We have alternatives, and I am alerting all of you we are going to run a tighter ship next time."

"We've had only one witness, and that's not a very good record."

That was the warning given Friday by Jean Auer, a hearing officer for the State Water Resources Board, after a hearing lasting from 9:30 in the morning until 5 in the afternoon concluded.

It was the latest battle in the war of the San Mateo County Board of Education and County Superintendent of Schools Dr. J. Russell Kent to establish more than $4 million outdoor education center on 274 acres of wildlife land in the Santa Cruz Mountains near Loma Mar and east of Pescadero.

Although it was a day scheduled for proponents of the project to speak, and most of the day was spent in examining and cross-examining William C. Dunn of Woodside, consulting engineer for the project, two opponents, Joseph Karp, foreman of the 1975-76 Grand Jury, and Alvin Young, representing the Northern California Council of Fly Fishing Clubs — were allowed to speak out of sequence.

Almost all of the time was given to discussion and questioning of Dunn's plan to, in effect, create an underground lake, as a water source for the project.

In essence, Dunn explained, a water table under field in the outdoor educational facility, would be dammed at its outlet as some springs at the downward end of Dudfield Creek, which flows through the property. The water would be pumped back and allowed to percolate back through the underground water table, be purified, and then pumped back again.

Actually, Dunn testified, the underground water storage facility would provide more water the year around than is now available.

The idea of damming an underground water supply was first conceived at the beginning of the century by Hermann Schussler, designer of the Crystal Springs Dam, when he dammed an underground water supply at Sumol in Alameda County, although he did not pump the water back to be percolated again, Dunn testified.

Dunn, who said he has spent more time than any other man studying Pescadero Creek, assured representatives of the state board that even under the most adverse conditions, water would be supplied on a greater basis than now available for irrigation and domestic use downstream.

The engineer calculated the storage capacity of the underground storage facility, which would draw water from Pescadero Creek at 6.5 acre-feet.

He termed it like "a large, underground lake."

Attorneys John Paul Hanna and Gerald Wagstaffe, special counsels retained by the Board of Supervisors, spent much of the day challenging Dunn's assumptions.

Karp, who will not be available when the hearing resumes on Jan. 17, listed a number of organizations opposing the facility, including the Board of Supervisors, the County Planning Commission, two previous grand juries and the council of San Mateo, Potola Valley, Atherton and Half Moon Bay.

Young demanded a number of additional safeguards to protect steelhead, silver salmon and trout in Pescadero Creek.

'Nutcracker' Classic Again

Peninsula Ballet Theatre's exciting fifth annual production of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker" ballet is again ready to capture the holiday spirit of Peninsula audiences.

The costumes, enchanting story, and dancing of 120 performers will be presented in Spangenberg Auditorium at Gunn High School in Palo Alto on Saturdays at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. and Sundays at 1 and 4:30 p.m., Dec. 11-12 and 18-19.

Unique to this version of the traditional "Nutcracker" ballet are the realistic characterizations created by Director Anne Bena for the family members and their guests in the First Act party scene.

As the ballet unfolds the audience is reminded that what they behold is a child's dream. They follow the Nutcracker Prince and Clara from the battle with the Seven-headed Rat King through the enchanted Snow Forest to meet the Sugar Plum Fairy in the Kingdom of the Sweets.

In this year's performances, principal dancers Rosine Bena and Sam Weber recreate the memorable roles of the beautiful Sugar Plum Fairy and her handsome Cavalier.

Appearing as the magical Snow Queen and Snow Prince are Loretta Bartlett and Bill Laaser. Peter Encoyand once again appears in the title role, and Karstyn McCoy will perform the bravura Candy Cane.

Tickets are available by mail or in person at the Peninsula Ballet Theatre Box Office, 333 South B St. in San Mateo, or at the Macys, Emporium, and Capwells ticket agencies.

San Bruno resident Margi Pratchenko is in the company and appears as a Snow Flake and in Waltz of the Flowers. Also appearing from San Bruno are Kay Donatelli as Spanish Chocolate and Valorie Portnoy as a Teddy Bear.

For information call 343-8485.

Ryan Marries Former Aide

Rep. Leo J. Ryan, D-San Mateo, winner of his re-election battle by a wide margin, was married Friday morning in a private ceremony in the Redwood City chambers of Judge Melvin Cohn.

The new Mrs. Ryan is the former Mrs. Florence Stevens, who at one time was Ryan's executive aide in the congressman's San Mateo field office.

It is the second marriage for both. According to Ryan's administrative assistant, Joe Holsinger, the decision to wed apparently was a rekindling of an old romance.

During Mrs. Ryan's tenure with Ryan's office from January, 1973 to July, 1975, the pair was briefly engaged, but a pending marriage was broken off, and Ryan returned to Washington alone.

Holsinger said that Ryan apparently felt that his luck had held in the election, and was in good spirits following his victory.

The congressman apparently visited Mrs. Ryan's Sacramento home on Nov. 8 during the current congressional election recess, and the pair decided to resume their former plans.

Ryan has five children by a former marriage. The eldest, son Chris, is a marine biologist in Massachusetts, and a daughter, Shannon lives with him in Washington, working as a court reporter. Son Kevin is a Coast Guardsman, while daughters Erin and Pat live with their mother in Burlingame.

When Mrs. Ryan worked for Ryan's office, she maintained a her home in Sacramento, and commuted home on weekends because her son, Randy, wanted to complete high school there. He has since started college, dropped out, and is now working fulltime.

Only the immediate family and a few close friends attended the 10:00 a.m. ceremony. Following a brief luncheon at Borel's restaurant in San Mateo, Rep. and Mrs. Ryan departed for Sacramento, where the couple plans to sell Mrs. Ryan's home. Ryan is due back in Washington on Dec. 6, at which time Congress will take up the question of leadership for the coming term.

The couple will be establishing a residence in the Eleventh Congressional District, but plans are indefinite.

Michael Bossier, assistant manager of the Little Professor Book Store at the Westlake Shopping Center Mall, discusses books suitable as Christmas gifts with Cecilia Enright and Olga Canada. He will be speaking on the same subject to a meeting of the Friends of the Daly City Library at 10 a.m. Dec. 2 in the Coral Room of the Westlake Library.

Talk on Books as Gifts Slated by Library Unit

A native San Franciscan who is interested in books and drama, Michael Bossier, assistant manager of the Little Professor Book Store, Westlake Shopping Center, will review books for holiday giving for The Friends of the Daly City Library and their guests Dec. 2 10 a.m., in the Coral Room, Westlake Library. The review will include books for a variety of interests.

The public is invited to attend the event free of charge. Bossier earned his associate degree at Skyline College and has six months to go for a bachelor's degree at San Francisco State University in the fields of speech and drama.

He has been performing for eight years and may be seen every Friday night at San Francisco's Spaghetti Factory. He not only acts but is director of the 10-member improvisational group, composed of members of a number of former groups.

The performance, known as the Spaghetti Jam's Greatest Hits, aims to be satirical, concentrating on satirical behaviorism and the political scene. He is also an instructor of a workshop for 20 to 25 students.

A coffee hour will precede the program.

Book Review Chairwoman Olga Canada will accept reservations at the review for the no-host luncheon honoring Bossier which will be held at Lyon's Restaurant, John Daly Boulevard and Poncet Drive, Daly City, following the program.

One Bidder For Planner Post

San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald has for the past month been seeking applicants for appointments to the County Planning Commission.

He has run numerous newspaper advertisements in his district (the Second). With the Nov. 30 deadline for accepting applications less than two weeks away, Fitzgerald has received exactly one application.

Ward Asks Charter Comments

San Mateo County Supervisor John M. Ward is seeking public comment on the proposal to submit additional proposed county charter amendments to the electorate in the March 8, 1977, consolidated election.

Ward, a member of the board sub-committee which is selecting possible amendments for the ballot, said he plans to discuss them at the meeting of the board Tuesday in Redwood City, although a board decision on the matter will not be made until Dec. 7.

Included as possible charter amendments, Ward said, are election of supervisors by district, changing the county coroner's and county superintendent of schools jobs from elective to appointive, and reviving the charter amendment defeated in this month's general election which would allow Comprehensive Employment and Training Act-trained persons to hold county jobs without being under the jurisdiction of civil service.

Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson said Wednesday that he intends to ask the board to place on the March ballot a proposal which would permit the division of his office to provide for the office of county counsel.

Ward said Tuesday's discussion of the charter proposals will come up under board member reports during the meeting, which begins at 10 a.m. in the Hall of Justice.

The supervisor said he believes the five charter amendments which were defeated in this month's general election were dumped because there was insufficient involvement of citizen interest early in the process.

He is asking that organized groups and individual citizens attend the meeting and participate in the discussion this time.

For Board

Members of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors are scheduled to receive a salary increase of $3,039 a year beginning Jan. 1, 1977.

Following the precept of an ordinance adopted by the board in January, 1973, which pegged supervisors' salaries on the salaries of Superior Court judges, the pay for board members will increase from $25,367 to $28,406 annually.

When adopted, the ordinance pegged supervisors' salaries at 50 per cent of the salary of a Superior Court judge. A sliding scale increases the percentage to 60 per cent starting Jan. 1, 1978. This year's percentage is 56 per cent, and increases to 58 per cent as of next Jan. 1.

The salaries of Superior Court judges were increased by the State Legislature this year from $45,299 to $48,976 annually, effective as of last Sept. 1.

Even if the judges don't receive a salary increase next year, the Board of Supervisors will in 1978 on the basis of the percentage peg.

When supervisors' salaries increased by a $3,579 annually the first of this year, it touched off a furor among county employees who were engaged in salary negotiations with the county at the time.

The board members' increase amounted to about 16 per cent, as compared to the 7 per cent increase, plus three cost of living increases over a two-year period, finally negotiated for most county employees.

Environment

Study Wins

Approval

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, still expressing concern, voted 3 to 1 this week to participate in the Environmental Management Program being administered by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald remained adamantly opposed to the county's participation in the program, designed to devise a clean water and air plan, as well as a solid waste disposal plan for the nine Bay Area counties.

The problem, Fitzgerald said, is that there is no provision in the Environmental Protection Agency-mandated program for funding to implement the plan. He also noted that San Mateo County already has adopted and started to implement a solid waste disposal plan.

"It's a waste of money, and duplication," the supervisor stated.

During discussion of the program last week, the board authorized a letter to ABAG requesting that agency to inquire of the Environmental Protection Agency as to how implementation of the plan will be funded.

Fitzgerald said that the city of Los Angeles is thinking of suing the EPA for "wasting" $350 million in funds nationwide for environmental management program planning when it has not appropriated implementation funds. If Los Angeles sues, "we should join in," the supervisor asserted.

Supervisor Jean Fessler, a member of the ABAG Environmental Management Task Force which is overseeing the planning program, said she, too, has her concerns.

However, she added, "If we don't evaluate our needs, we're not in the position to seek funding."

Commendation

Daly City Assistant Chief of Police Richard Sims presents a certificate of commendation to Officer Edmund Cota "for the manner in which he captured an armed suspect" on Oct. 9.

SSF High to Stage First Season Play

The South San Francisco High School Drama Department will put on its first production of the season, the play "You Can't Take It With You," a three act comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman.

The play is about a family who has a variety of different hobbies and each indulges in them. These hobbies include pet snakes, the making of fireworks and xylophone playing.

One of the main characters, Alice Symore, played by Christine Sorensen, brings her boyfriend Tony Kirby, played by Dave Mauro to her family's home to meet them. This meeting creates problems for the two lovers which is exploited to the fullest extent when Alice's family meets the Kirbys, a very snobbish, high society minded couple.

Director for the production is Lyle Crawford. Assistant student director is Carol Ponte.

EARLY ACCIDENTS

There were four gasoline-powered vehicles in the United States in 1895, reports the National Automobile Club, and two of them collided in St. Louis, Missouri, seriously injuring both drivers.

OPERATION SANTA

Several of the many Daly City volunteers for the annual Operation Santa Claus program met for a planning session recently. Volunteers for the past 27 years have joined together in an effort to bring the spirit of Christmas to their less fortunate neighbors in Daly City. Operation Santa Claus is expected to furnish Christmas dinners and toys for

Thanksgiving Jog-Swim Set at Redwood Shores

Loneliness won't be a problem for the distance runners in the Nov. 28 Run-Swim-a-thon at Redwood Shores.

The biathlon event, fondly referred to as "a fun run for crazies" by the runners, will lure a field of more than 300, who'll vie in eight different classes over a 3 1/2-mile course.

The course was engineered by Camino West Track Club president Pete

Michon and promises to be as interesting as it is testy. Competitors will start from the Redwood Shores information pavilion, traverse across the bridge spanning the Redwood Shores lagoon, out across a levee and then down a strip path through a linear park to the starting point.

But that's only the first part. After reaching the starting point, runners will doff shoes and shirts and become swimmers — entering the 68-degree water at a small beach and circling around a buoy and returning to the beach again, a distance of one-half mile.

The terrain that the runners will cover switches from hardpack to grass, to decomposed granite and then back to grass again.

"The novice and the skilled athlete will find their own level of competition," said Len Wallach of the West Valley Track Club, a Boston Marathon veteran who is a candidate for the Dolphin Club's Running Man of the Year.

"For the 'unrunners' it will be a slow, torchorous process and it's going to require some pretty intense concentration from the front runners."

The race begins at 10 a.m. with pre-registration scheduled for 9 a.m. All swimmers-runners will receive a souvenir t-shirt and winners, along with trophies, will be awarded gift certificates.

Redwood Shores is located east of the Bayshore freeway, just off the Ralston Avenue-Marine World Parkway exit.

Boos Greet Pacifica Apartment Rejection

By JANET PARKER

A dispute over the proposed 97-unit "Portolas" apartment complex split the Pacifica City Council and ended in a heated exchange over philosophical differences Tuesday night.

The council's consideration of the complex drew construction advocates from throughout the county as well as local residents who jeered the council's decision.

The final 3-2 vote turning down the project brought an angry reaction from many in the audience who yelled "Justify your vote."

They were aggravated further when Councilman Mark Savage — who had voted against the project — made a separate motion to study rezoning the property to commercial-recreation. His motion was approved 3-2.

Developers have been trying to build an apartment complex on the property between Roberts Road and Cabrillo Highway since 1970.

The current developers took over the project when the original developer ran into financial trouble in 1972. However, they too ran into conflicts with the Coastal Zone Conservation Commission, which denied the project. Eventually, after more than two years of meetings and studies the project was redesigned and it won the Planning Commission's approval in August.

However, resident Ruth Paige appealed to the council in October, saying the redesigned project requires a new environmental impact report and that the impacts on traffic, seismic hazards and open space resources would be detrimental.

City Atty. Gloria Scheid had said the redesigned project — although 38 units fewer than the original design — did not entail sufficient change to require a new EIR.

The council listened for two hours as the devel-pers' representative, Frank Borges of San Mateo, defended the project and as Mrs. Paige protested.

But when the council positions lined up, tension began to grow in the audience and at the council table.

Mayor Janice Fulford and Councilman Sidney Lorvan clearly objected to the project from the beginning.

Lorvan contended that the ocean-view property, only 1,000 yards from the beach, should be reserved for some kind of project that would strengthen the city's weak tax base.

He said councilmen have promised in the past to promote development that would add to city tax roll but the promises have been "lip service."

"It's conceivable it could be used financially and economically in connection with the beach," Lorvan said.

Mrs. Fulford drew the loudest boos of the evening when she said the unique views from the property should not be destroyed and other kinds of development ought to be considered.

"I don't think it would be all bad to have a couple of $250,000 houses on that property," she said.

The audience's vocal response caused her to remind them that we're discussing this at the council level.

"We're discussing this at the idiot level," responded Councilman Stan Farber.

Farber said the new developer has done everything possible to retain the ocean view. The property, he said, is on the other side of a beach barrier, the highway, and would not be suitable for beach-oriented recreational use.

Councilman Nick Gust joined Farber in supporting the project, saying it is a unique location for apartments. The developer, he said, has met every requirement of the city and has worked three years to get a project that's agreeable to the planning commission.

"He has been led right up to the trough and now we turn the water off on

Pacifica Considers Planning Appeal Fee

It could cost Pacifica residents time and money to disagree with the Planning Commission. Commissioner Jim Brush has spent the last month researching his proposal that persons who appeal commission decisions to the City Council should pay for it. His idea, when first presented to the commission last month, caught commissioners off guard, and the concept was barely approved, 4-3.

Rather than immediately forward the proposal as a recommendation to the City Council, Brush has been looking into methods to develop a legal and fair fee schedule for appeals. Brush said this week that he's ready to suggest the council consider three alternatives for appellants — pay a fee, and obtain a required number of signatures from affected residents who support an appeal, or file a "pauper statement" verifying that payment of a fee would be financially impossible. "This will not deny anybody their legal or constitutional right of appeal," Brush said. City Atty. Gloria Scheid had said earlier she was doubtful that simply requiring a fee of all appellants would be constitutional. Brush said it is his intent to see that the right to appeal is not abused.

In recent months, the City Council has been besieged with appeals from all corners of the coastal city. The most recent council agenda included a resident's appeal of a use permit for a produce cooperative in Sharp Park. Other appeals have involved items as seemingly simple as variance requests, and items as time-consuming and far-reaching as 100-unit apartment complexes. Tonight, the council has scheduled a special meeting to consider a resident's appeal of the Planning Commission approval of specific plans for "The Portolas" — a 97-unit apartment complex planned between Roberts Road and the Coast Highway.

Brush said the city's planning staff — drastically cut in the last budget hearings — is hard pressed for time to prepare reports for appeals. The commissioner said several Bay Area cities already charge fees for appeals. San Bruno, San Mateo, Concord and Tracy all charge appellants a flat fee of $25. The city of Menlo Park has a sliding schedule of fees. However, the commission remained reluctant to forward the proposal to the council until it has reviewed thoroughly the concept itself.

The item had been scheduled for Monday's council meeting, but commissioners agreed it should be postponed and Brush should report to his own group when all the information from nearby cities is in.

Commissioner Brad Pringle said he was "personally upset" when Brush proposed the appeal fee. He said it was suggested two years ago, and the city attorney at that time ruled it illegal. Closer scrutiny of this proposal is needed by the city attorney, he said.

"I have mixed feelings about this matter," said Commissioner Lee Forest. He said the proposal came at the end of a meeting with only 40 seconds of discussion. He said he was not accusing anyone of underhandedness but he still is concerned.

"I think we should give this a great deal of study," Commissioner John Lewis added. "This is a backhanded way to do something about appeals."

Commissioner Ellie McGuire objected, saying it is "an excellent way to control appeals that bog down the planning staff and delay other planning matters."

Plans for 323 Acres in SSF

Hearing Set for Mt. San Bruno

By JANET PARKER

Visitation Associates is getting ready to apply to the City of South San Francisco to develop the San Bruno Mountain slope above the city.

The San Francisco-based developers are to discuss preliminary plans for 323 acres of housing and commercial development at a special meeting of the City Council and Planning Commission on Dec. 7.

The developers are expected to submit formal applications for hearings before the Planning Commission early next year.

It will mark the firm's first formal discussion of its controversial San Bruno Mountain development plan with any of the local city councils that may be involved.

VA general manager Robert Follett said this week that it is VA's intention to proceed only with the South San Francisco phase of the development at this time.

In March, the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors approved a general plan amendment for all of the proposed development but the area known as the "Saddle."

Follett had said during turbulent hearings before the board that the proposed development was a matter of "all or nothing."

Without the 5,240 residential units in the Saddle area, the project was not financially feasible, he had said.

"When the supervisors voted on the plan, they knew they were voting for no project," Follett said. In addition to the slope above South San Francisco, the supervisors approved development of the northeast side of the mountain and an area near Brisbane.

The total number of housing units planned for those three areas was 2,235.

Follett said his firm cannot proceed with the other two approved areas of the mountain because they are tied up in litigation.

VA is asking that the courts reverse the supervisors' decision on the grounds that eliminating the Saddle from the plan damaged the entire project.

Development of the northeast ridge and the Brisbane vicinity, he said, is dependent upon development of the Saddle because many aspects of the three areas are tied together. VA believes the South San Francisco slope can stand alone.

Follett said any discussion of the specific plans to be presented to South San Francisco officials is premature.

"The plan will probably be somewhat near what the county approved," he said. "There's nothing to report at this time."

San Mateo County Planner Don Craig

said the portion of the plan expected to fall into South San Francisco's hands covers 323 acres, including 985 housing units and 100,000 square feet of retail-commercial buildings.

The residential phase of the development is planned to cover 67.5 acres and will include four types of housing units — townhouses, garden apartments, medium-rise apartments from five to six stories and high-rise units more than six stories.

Craig said the planned density of each kind of housing was included in the general plan amendment. VA has proposed 15 to 20 units per acre of townhouses, 25 to 35 for garden apartments, 45 to 55 for medium-rise and 60 to 75 for high-rise units.

Included in the amendment were 29.5 acres of parks and open space, 10 acres of public parks and 19.5 acres of private open space including backyards.

In addition to housing units, VA plans 29 acres of office buildings and 12 acres of retail-commercial development on the South San Francisco slope.

Acting City Planner Bill Costanzo has said that the office and warehouse complex would be developed in what is known as the "Bowl Area" along the west side of Bayshore Boulevard.

The proposed development reportedly would yield to South San Francisco a total annual tax revenue of $66,422.

Until now, the South San Francisco City Council has had little contact with Visitation Associates and has not discussed the developer's actual plans.

But Acting City Manager Frank Addiego urged the council this week to hold a study session as soon as possible "before anything gets out, so the council gets it first."

In recent months, the South San Francisco council has repeatedly complained that it obtains its information from the newspapers — not from its own staff.

For that reason, Costanzo said he could not comment any further on any discussions the city has had with VA.

Follett would say only that at least six different plans are presently being reviewed by VA for the South San Francisco slope.

Craig said the specific plans VA presents for the South San Francisco development should be consistent with the general plan amendment — except for some minor modifications.

There is still some question, however, whether South San Francisco will indeed gain control of the mountain slope. The county Local Agency Formation Commission has yet to consider South San Francisco's sphere of influence in connection with that slope, a preliminary step before annexation to the city can occur.

Supports Freeway Stand

The executive committee of the County Supervisors Association of California (CSAC) will oppose the proposed California Transportation Plan which might require San Mateo and other counties to finance major highway projects in the state.

William H. Royer, chairman of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors and a member of the CSAC executive committee, said today that he has secured support of the committee in asking the State Transportation Board not to adopt the plan.

A representative of CSAC will appear before a public hearing on the plan in Sacramento Monday to express the organization's opposition.

County Public Works Director S. H. Cantwell Jr. reported to the Board of Supervisors two weeks ago that the proposed transportation plan states a policy that where state highways are primarily of local or regional benefit, state financing should be limited to state benefits associated with a specific project.

This policy, if implemented, could mean that San Mateo County might be required to provide up to $70 million to finance three major highway projects it is seeking — the Devil's Slide bypass on Cabrillo Highway, a permanent interchange at Bayshore and Nineteenth Avenue freeways in San Mateo, and extension of the San Bruno Freeway into San Francisco International Airport.

Other counties seeking highway projects would face similar situations.

Royer, attending a CSAC conference in San Diego, said the group has authorized a task force of county counsels to determine the possibility of suing the state for failure to fulfill its obligations.

Royer said that CSAC is concerned over the limitation on property tax increases imposed by the bill, while the state keeps on mandating new programs but does not provide the financing.

The task force will be requested to pick out a specific situation in a specific county, and file suit as a test case, Royer said.

HOW ARE YOUR BRAKES?

Poorly adjusted, failing, or grabbing brakes can force your car into an uncontrolled skid on slippery roads. If your car pulls to one side on dry roads when you hit the brakes, the National Automobile Club urges you to have your brakes checked immediately.

Garbage, Cable Rates to Go Up

South San Franciscans will be paying more for garbage pickup and for cable television subscriptions on Jan. 1.

After months of staff study, a public study session and public hearing, the City Council approved new rates for both the South San Francisco Scavenger Co. and Western TV Cable.

The scavenger company got precisely what it wanted. The cable company is less enthusiastic about the council's final decision.

The scavengers' monthly rate for 30-gallon containers will increase from $2.70 to $3.25 on Jan. 1, 1977, and to $3.50 on Jan. 1, 1978.

The rate for each additional 30-gallon can will increase from $2.30 to $2.75 in 1977 and $3 in 1978.

Rates for apartment buildings, commercial cans, compacted debris and debris boxes also will go up.

In addition, the council approved mandatory pickup service throughout the city and mandatory curbside service unless special circumstances or physical handicaps prohibit a resident from hauling his garbage can to the street-side.

Under the new agreement, the city will pay the scavenger company the full cost of services provided to the city — about $8,500 a year.

In return, the city will receive 1 1/2 per cent of the company's gross revenues, about $27,000 a year.

The second year increase is subject to the council's approval after a review of an auditor's report late next year.

The new rates approved by the council for cable television are substantially less than the company had requested.

Western TV Cable board chairman, Ed Allen, had said the firm's rate request was necessary if the company was to improve service or make a profit.

The company had asked for an increase from $5.25 a month to $6.80 a month in 1977 and $7.25 a month in 1978.

The rate for extra television hookups would have increased from $1.25 to $1.70 in 1977 and $1.80 in 1978.

However, the council remained unconvinced that the cable company's request was justified.

Instead of the rates requested, the council approved monthly rate of $6.40 and $1.75 a month for each additional hook-up.

Police to Auction Off Bikes

If bicycles are on your kids' Christmas lists, you may be able to pick up a bargain on either a girls' or a boys' bike, as well as other miscellaneous articles at a police auction.

The Daly City Police Department will be holding the auction at 10 a.m. Dec. 3 in the police parking lot. Property will be sold as is and only cash will be accepted. No warranty, naturally, will be offered on the items.

Assigned

The son of a San Francisco couple has been assigned to Eielson AFB, Alaska, following graduation from the electrician course at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

Airman Rolando N. Miranda, son of retired U. S. Navy Chief Petty Officer and Mrs. Mario D. Miranda of 3103 Taraval St., was trained to install and maintain interior and exterior electrical systems and equipment and will now serve with a unit of the Alaskan Air Command.

The airman is a 1974 graduate of Serramonte High School, Daly City. His wife, Gina, is the daughter of William Kleinheinz of 973 Hanover St., Daly City.
